Free medical information disclaimer: drafting notes

This is a medical disclaimer document, designed for use on a website publishing medical information, for the purpose of disclaiming liability - or rather attempting to disclaim liability - in relation to that information.

Such medical information may relate to disease, injury, drugs and other treatments, medical devices and/or health products.

The document asserts that the medical information does not amount to advice, and if advice is needed appropriate professional help should be sought. The document also asserts that no warranties or representations are given in respect of the medical information, and that the website operator should not be held liable if a user suffers any injury or loss after relying upon the medical information.

The disclaimer may be used independently or as part of a more general legal/contractual document.

NB the courts have many tools they can use to render disclaimers ineffective, and you should not rely upon any template disclaimer of liability without first taking professional advice.
